CANDIDATES

In Popularity Contest Are Now Hustling For Votes For Themselves.

Heretofore They Have "Been In the Hands of Their Friends."

Many Evidences That Vote Will Be Heavier Than Was Expected.

IS NOW DRAWING TO THE CLOSE

The candidates in the popularity contest now have but a very short time to go among their friends to solicit votes. It is said to be a fact that most of the votes received up to this time have come to the candidates unsolicited. This is quite complimentary to those on the list and they ought to feel grateful to their friends and admirers for the partiality shown to them. No doubt their friends will continue to work to the very last day and hour, but the time has arrived for the candidates themselves to take a deeper interest and not allow their friends to do all the work. As predicted by the admirers and friends of the Kentucky Irish American, the vote will be much larger than the management of the paper expected at the outset. This was demonstrated in a particular and striking way during this week, when the subscription list was swelled by several hundred new subscribers, all to be credited to this or that candidate. As announced last week, the standing of the various candidates will not be published any more until the close of the contest, when the names of the successful ones will be announced by the committee appointed to count the votes. We violate no confidence in observing that there were some surprises in the vote cast this week. Some of the candidates who have not figured very prominently in the list up to this time have come to the front with great strides. If this continues next week the favorites, unless they be holding in reserve their vote, will not be in it at the close. Some of our old subscribers are sending in two and three years' subscriptions each in advance, asking that the votes to which they are entitled be credited their favorites. Those who have headed the list of contestants, however, are still confident and will not rest from now until the final vote is polled. The friends of the young lady contestants have been particularly active this week and many hundreds of votes have been sent in to be credited to them. Evidently the young gentlemen friends of the young ladies have gone to work in earnest for them. The young ladies are deserving of many more votes than they have received up to this time. They are all amiable and pretty girls. The married couples contest is not lagging behind and the vote has been quite heavy. As heretofore observed, the single gentlemen can take care of themselves and they are out hustling in real earnest. A friend of one of the single gentlemen in the contest says he will get 100 new subscribers before July 4 for the Kentucky Irish American and have the votes credited for his favorite. If several of the single men would get out and hustle like the one mentioned the result would be in doubt until the last vote was polled. The members of the police and fire departments, nearly all of whom subscribe for the Kentucky Irish American, are beginning to take interest in the contest for their friends, both single and married. Members of various labor organizations are also taking a hand. This paper has a large circulation among the union labor people, but until now they have, as a class, taken but very little interest. Business men are also showing more interest, as many of the retail merchants have friends in the list. One Main-street merchant sent in ten new subscribers, the votes to be credited to one of the married couples, and another sends in five to be credited to one of his young lady friends in the popularity contest. As we go to press on Friday the votes were coming in by hundreds. The prizes are well worth going after, to say nothing of the honor of winning in a contest of this kind. The thirty-seven candidates are among the best people in Louisville, and their friends can vote for them without ever expressing or feeling regret for doing so. It affords a man greater pleasure to give than to receive. It will afford any one of the single ladies, for instance, great pleasure to be allowed to go to the World's Fair for a week, and it costs but little to help the young women candidates along. The simplest way is by sending in subscriptions to be credited to them. This ought to be done by the friends of the candidates without the asking. The contest has progressed so far with the best of feeling between the rival candidates, and this will no doubt continue to the end, and when the result is announced, while there may be some surprise in store for some, there will be no room for charging that the prizes were not awarded on a fair count of the vote. The management intends to give no room for any one to say that the contest was not conducted on the fairest basis. Every vote will be credited where it is due.

Every day this week there has been an influx of ballots, the numbers running high up into the thousands. Mike Reichert's friends have organized for the final struggle, Ben Speaker, Harry Vee-neman, Frank Lenz and several others having taken charge of his campaign. But the friends of John Hennessey are not resting. They declare the man from Limerick must win at all hazards and are putting up a game fight. These two are nip and tuck and the race is so close that the last subscription received may determine the winner.

This has been a busy week for the supporters of Frank McDonogh and Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbon, and the winner will have won a contest of which any man might feel proud. Both candidates have a big following, and as both are experienced politicians it would be unwise for the Kentucky Irish American to make any prediction as to the outcome. An enormous vote will be recorded for both of them. Tom Camfield and Edward Dalton have moved their positions, their friends sticking to them with a loyalty that is commendable. This is a race that may yet develop startling surprises.

Entering the home stretch Misses Ella O'Connell, Mamie Riley and Mary Foley are closely hunched. The others in the young ladies' division have received a handsome vote, but the contest has narrowed down to the three named. Their friends are watching closely and every move of the candidates is noted. But the young ladies are keeping their own counsel, which causes the suspicion that they yet have a card up their sleeve. Ballots and subscriptions for them have been received from Colorado, Indiana, Vermont, New York, Missouri, Tennessee and many cities and towns throughout Kentucky. This is a pretty race indeed and promises an exciting finish.

Remember that the contest will soon be ended, therefore do not delay in sending in your subscriptions and ballots.

LIKES HIS NEW HOME.

The Kentucky Irish American has received a letter from William T. Meehan, who recently removed to Paris, Mo., to engage in the tobacco business. Mr. Meehan is enjoying excellent health and says Paris is the center of a glorious country, but deeply deplors the fact that there is no Catholic church in the town. He also says he hopes the day may not be far distant when there will be more priests and the present state of things changed.

SUCCESSFUL

Close of Another Remarkable School Year at St. Xavier's College.

Fifteen Bright Young Men Are Graduated With Honors.

Robert Abell and Jerome Driscoll Win Highest Honors.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES DELIVERED

The closing exercises of St. Xavier's College for the school year of 1904 on Wednesday night, held in the College Auditorium, brought an immense crowd together. The year has been the most successful one in the history of the institution, and the Xavierian Brothers have reason to feel proud of the record their pupils made. For the occasion of the commencement the assembly hall was beautifully decorated, and the interesting programme was carried out to the satisfaction of all concerned. On the platform with the Very Rev. Louis G. Deppen, chaplain of the college, were many of the local clergy.

The alumni address was delivered by Mr. John J. Cassidy, the well known official court stenographer, of the class of 1892. It was an eloquent and sensible oration and elicited attention. At the conclusion of the address Mr. Cassidy presented the alumni medal for general excellence to Jerome J. Driscoll. One of the features of the evening's exercises was an oratorical contest between the members of the graduating class. It was led by Edward J. Bush with a speech on "Ideals." Cornelius J. Lane spoke of "Catholic Literature in Catholic Homes." Mr. Lane paid a fitting tribute to the Catholic press and its opportunities for doing good. S. Parnell Barrett's theme was "Patriotism," which he handled well and received much applause. Mr. Barrett's effort was pronounced by many to be one of the best of the evening. A vocal class sang in concert, "The Mellow Horn," which was rendered with excellent effect. The class was made up of young boys who have good voices.

Clifford J. Flynn had for his subject "America's Open Door," in which he traced the history of the United States from the time of the explorations of Father Marquette to the present day. The address was replete with interesting information and Mr. Flynn's delivery was all that could be desired. The speaker was generously applauded at many points. A duet was excellently rendered by Newman J. Hoertz and Henry G. Hill.

The final speech, "A Retrospect," was delivered by Robert A. Abell, the valedictorian. He gave a history of the college since its beginning, recounting the good work which it has accomplished. Incidentally he referred to the great Archbishop Spalding, who in the early history of the Commonwealth established schools and colleges in Kentucky which have since been successfully maintained by his successors. The speaker paid a high tribute to the Xavierian Brothers. At the close Mr. Abell was presented with the gold medal.

The last address of the evening was made by the Very Rev. Louis G. Deppen, who also spoke of the work of the college and the devotion of the Brothers. Father Deppen then presented the medals and prizes to the graduates.

The musical part of the programme was of a very high order and much enjoyed by the large audience. It included solos, duets and a chorus of 160 voices, together with the instrumental music, which was very fine.

The large audience left the college delighted with the performance, and Brother James, the Superior, and his associates were congratulated on all sides. The fifteen graduates are as follows: John Clifford Flynn, Cornelius John Lane, Ambrose Joseph Schweers, Victor Bernard Rademaker, Jerome Joseph Driscoll, Bernard Albert Morthorst, Thomas Walter Keely, Stephen Parnell Barrett, Eugene Michael Ford, Firmin Nippert Boeche, Edward Michael Shaughnessy, Robert Albert Abell, Francis Guy Aud, Marcus Michael Doerhoefer and Edward John Bruch.

SATOLLI'S VISIT

Speculation as to Why the Cardinal Is Now in the United States.

Regarded as the Personal Representative of the Holy See.

May Revive Cahensley Movement at the Instance of the Poles.

GIVEN A DINNER BY SECRETARY TAFT

Cardinal Satolli's visit to the United States is being widely discussed in the Eastern press. A Catholic writer in the New York Sun goes into some speculation and writes as follows:

Since the renewal of the great tide of immigration from Catholic countries Cahensleyism has been resurrected and the question of having national instead of territorial Bishops here is being agitated at Rome. This movement was started in 1891 by Herr Cahensley. The Kaiser's keen interest in his people wherever they may be is well known. It is his desire that they and their children shall remain Germans, no matter in what clime they settle, speaking the language and keeping up to the traditions and customs of the Fatherland. It was Herr Cahensley's idea that there should be a Bishop for each nationality. His petition to the Holy See called attention to certain derelictions as to Catholic immigrants on the part of the American hierarchy, and particularly pointed out the necessity for national Bishops and priests in the United States. The presentation of this memorial caused an outburst of indignation here at what was considered a desire of foreigners to perpetuate national distinctions and transfer national antagonisms, prejudices and customs to the new world, to the disadvantage of the Roman Catholic church.

The American Bishops took it as a reflection upon themselves, and Cardinal Gibbons, as their spokesman, indignantly denounced the memorial as an unwise interference with the national order of things and an entirely uncalled for emanation of a clique whose utterances only gave enemies another opportunity of pointing out the Catholic church most unjustly as a foreign growth in the republic. The Holy See finally rejected the petition. The revival of the Cahensley agitation is said to be of Polish origin. The Poles are very numerous in this country and some of their priests most ardently desire a Bishop of their own nationality. They are devout Catholics, as a rule, but many squabbles have arisen here between pastors and congregations. These, it is said, can never be satisfactorily settled except by a Polish Bishop. Representations have been made to Rome recently on this question by an American attorney acting for a Polish priest stationed at Buffalo. It is just possible that Cardinal Satolli may examine the subject at close range before returning to Europe.

Whatever may be the nature of Cardinal Satolli's mission, and however much he may deny it, he is universally regarded as the personal representative of the Holy See, and the result of his visit—its effect at Rome upon the church here—will be awaited with deep interest. Whatever may be the true object of Cardinal Satolli's visit, optimists profess to believe that it will be of benefit to him and to the church in America. They feel that he can not help being impressed with the magnificent condition of the church here, and that any prejudices he may have imbibed since his last stay in this country will be overcome by a personal inspection of the true condition of affairs.

Cardinal Satolli is declared to be still a power of the first magnitude of Rome, popular belief in America to the contrary notwithstanding. The impression has gone forth that his star declined with the death of Leo. As a matter of fact, he worked vigorously for the election of Cardinal Sarto, who owes his elevation to the papacy in a great measure to Satolli's tireless efforts in his behalf at the Conclave.

Cardinal Satolli was given a dinner by Secretary of War Taft at the Arlington Hotel in Washington Monday night. Those present included representative Government officials and well known dignitaries of the Catholic church. In addition to the Secretary and the Cardinal there were present Archbishop Farley, Gen. Chaffee, Mr. McCall, Mr. Glover, Mr. Conant, Admiral Taylor, Monsignor O'Keefe, Archbishop Ireland, Secretary Moody, Admiral Dewey, Monsignor O'Connell, Gen. Sanger, Father Stafford, Dr. Egan, Major Ballinger, Major Porter, Chief Justice Arrellano, of the Philippines, and Justice Brown, of the United States Supreme Court.

In responding to an address by Secretary Taft, Cardinal Satolli said:

It is a pleasure for me to recall the fact that when the flag of the United States was displayed from the Hotel Quirinal, in one of the principal streets of Rome, it was regarded with universal respect and friendliness, and as its folds were unfurled in the breeze it seemed to remind the Romans of the ancient deeds and glories of the republic of Romulus. Again, may it be pleasing to his excellency, Mr. Taft, to accept the tribute of a grateful heart for all the great good he has done in the government of the Philippines. The interests of Catholicity in those islands under the wings of the American eagle, already feel the warmth of a new life and give promise of the most happy future, both political and civil, intellectual and Christian. Long live Secretary Taft, and may he continue to render most distinguished services for the prosperity of this great nation.

TIMELY WARNING.

Rev. Father Henry A. Connolly, pastor of St. Brigid's church, this city, preached an able warning sermon to his flock last Sunday morning. Father Connolly cautioned his people against promiscuous river excursions and picnics, which abound in physical as well as moral dangers. When there is no special reason, he said, for attending river excursions, it would be far wiser for fathers to take their families out to one of the parks or some pretty spot in the country and there enjoy a quiet and safe outing.

Cardinal Satolli is declared to be still a power of the first magnitude of Rome, popular belief in America to the contrary notwithstanding. The impression has gone forth that his star declined with the death of Leo. As a matter of fact, he worked vigorously for the election of Cardinal Sarto, who owes his elevation to

OUR ANNIVERSARY NUMBER.

The Kentucky Irish American will issue an anniversary number on July 2. It will be a publication well worthy of sending away to friends, as it will contain special articles on topics of interest to Kentuckians and Catholics generally.

This edition, more particularly on account of the popularity contest now going on between many estimable people, will have a very large circulation throughout the city and State. It will go into nearly every Catholic family in Louisville.

Advertisers should not overlook this anniversary edition. The Kentucky Irish American reaches a class of people who read with care, and merchants and others should cultivate their patronage through its columns. It is a better medium of advertising than through some of the daily papers to reach a particular class. Our old advertisers should insert larger ads in this edition, and many who have not heretofore taken advantage of these columns should do so on this occasion.

CATHOLIC EDUCATION.

The commencement season is now about concluded in the various educational institutions in Kentucky. The graduates have made their farewell and the pupils who will graduate in future years have returned to their homes for vacation. Kentucky, the first of the States admitted to the Union, may not be as far advanced in material progress as some of her sister States, but she takes high rank in the educational line. This is particularly true of the Catholic church in Kentucky. Its educational institutions rank among the best in the whole country. Ninety-two years ago the Friends of Mary at the Foot of the Cross, now popularly known as the Loretto Society of Sisters, was founded, and in the same year (1812) the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth were established by John Baptist David, Coadjutor Bishop of Bardonia. These two religious communities now number between seven and eight hundred religious each, and have branch academies in many States of the Union.

The Sisters of Charity of Nazareth have a delightful mother house not far from Louisville, in Nelson county. Their annual commencements always attract large attention, though some of the branch academies in other parts of the country have a larger patronage. The Sisters of Nazareth have reason to feel proud of their work in Kentucky, and the same may be said of the Sisters of Loretto.

In all that goes to make up the finished education of a young woman the opportunities afforded by the Sisters of Nazareth and of Loretto can not be excelled anywhere in the Union. Catholics can point with pride to their venerable educational institutions, which have accomplished so much for Kentucky and for the Catholics of the whole country.

In the matter of education for boys the Kentucky Catholic institutions are not behind other States. We have in Louisville the Xavierian Brothers, established in 1854, and at Gethsemani the college conducted by the Trappists, where boys can secure a good education. Last, but not least, we have in Louisville excellent parochial schools in nearly all of the thirty-two congregations where boys and girls can obtain a good education at small cost.

Kentucky Catholics can point with pride to her Catholic colleges, both male and female. Some of them date back to the very foundation of the Commonwealth. The great missionary priests who came here when the Dark and Bloody Ground was a wilderness early took steps to provide educational facilities for the young, and the foundation laid by them has been productive of good. There is reason to believe that the future is even brighter than the past for all the Catholic educational institutions in Kentucky. When the academies and colleges open again in September may they have larger patronage than ever is the wish of the Kentucky Irish American. The devotion shown by the Sisters and the others having charge of the schools is to be commended.

CHANGING THE TAX LAWS.

The city officials are now considering the important matter of changing the tax laws so as to collect a license tax from merchants and manufacturers instead of an ad valorem tax, as at present. The change in the tax law was asked for by the manufacturers and merchants "in order to encourage industry, etc." Of course the merchants and manufacturers were not altogether prompted by unselfish motives in asking this change in the law, but we will concede they were honest in believing that the new system might help along manufactures. The ad valorem system is the fairest method of taxation, if the assessments are equitably made, and they are so made in Louisville by Assessor Murphy. Under a license system in former years merchants and manufacturers paid little or no taxes in proportion to the amount of property they owned and the amount of business done by them. If the city of Louisville is to return to this policy, the sooner the General Council kills the proposed ordinance changing from ad valorem to license the better it will be. The proposed ordinance ought to be published before it is sent to the General Council and discussed by the public. If it is equitable it should be passed, but not otherwise. There is no reason why the poor man who owns a little cottage and nothing more should be made to pay ad valorem taxes, or in other words, full value, and allow the merchant and manufacturer, with millions, to escape with a small license tax.

It is a dangerous thing for the city to change its taxing laws anyway, and it will take years to get the courts to interpret them. The city of Louisville should go slow in this matter. Main street does not own the whole town.

CARDINAL SATOLLI'S VISIT.

The Washington correspondents, for want of something else to write about, have sent out dispatches that the real reason Cardinal Satolli is now visiting the United States is to confer with President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Taft about establishing a nunciature in Washington City.

Few Catholics believe these stories about the Vatican being desirous of establishing official relations at Washington with an envoy from Rome the same as in Catholic countries. The separation of church and State in this country is too firmly established to warrant the belief that the Pope would make such a request, and it is doubtful if an official representative from Rome would have as much influence as the eminent Catholic clergymen and laymen who from time to time now call the attention of the President to the rights of the church and of Catholics. Now more than ever, since the taking over of the Philippines with its 6,000,000 or more Catholics, the authorities in Washington have good reason to consult the church dignitaries, but it does not follow that there should be a nunciature in Washington. That Cardinal Satolli will have important business with the President and Secretary of War there is hardly a doubt, but he will hardly ask that official diplomatic relations be permanently established between Rome and the United States. The Pope and the Cardinal know the traditional policy of the United States on this subject probably as well as the Washington correspondents. It is doubtful if a nunciature would be of benefit to the church in the United States.

The New York Sun, however, has a two column article in its Sunday edition on the visit of the Cardinal, in the course of which it says:

"Rome has no hope of inducing the American Government to recognize the temporal power of the Pope. The Papal authorities feel, however, that a country which contains 12,000,000 Catholics should not be without an official representative of some kind at the Vatican. Questions are constantly arising, particularly since the acquisition by the United States of Porto Rico and the Philippines, that call for the services of experienced diplomatists on both sides. The hierarchy here and the Pope himself would be gratified, it is believed, if this Government would send an accredited representative to the Vatican and at the same time sanction the establishment of a nunciature at Washington."

After the Cardinal's visit to the President doubtless some announcement will be made of the real purpose of his call upon the Washington authorities.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION.

There seems to be no doubt now that the American Federation of Catholic Societies will be formed on the lines originally mapped out by Bishop McFaul and Bishop Messmer, of Milwaukee. At first the plan met with some opposition, as all innovations do, but now the wisdom of the movement has become so apparent that nearly all opposition has been withdrawn.

Under the proposed regulations the societies will be as independent for local action as they are now, while there will be united action on national and general topics. Pope Pius has approved a federation on similar lines in Italy.

The Kentucky Irish American struck the popular chord in its Tebeau article last week.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS

Arranging to Go to the Big World's Fair Next September.

The Entertainment Committee of the local Catholic Knights of America met Tuesday night to hear reports regarding their excursion to the World's Fair for Catholic Knight day, September 13. President Reichert presided, and when Secretary Mann called the roll there was a response for nearly all the branches in the Falls Cities. Quite an amount of correspondence was read, and all of such an encouraging character that it was at once decided to give the excursion, the entire cost to be only $16. This will secure three days at the American Hotel, just opposite the entrance to the fair, with meals included, and will give many the opportunity they have been longing for to see the big exposition. The Knights of St. Louis and World's Fair management are working hard in hand in arranging for Catholic Knight day. Later fuller details of the trip will appear in these columns.

While in St. Louis he will be the guest of his brothers, John and Will Shanghnessy, who are doing well in the Mound City.

St. Paul's church, Lexington, was the scene of a pretty Wednesday morning, when Miss Nora Foley, one of the prettiest girls of the Bluegrass section, became the bride of Francis Horine, of Staten Island, N. Y. The church was thronged by friends of the young couple, who left for the East, where they will make their home.

Miss Mayme Ryan, of St. Louis, sister of Rev. Father Ryan, formerly of Kentucky Seminary, but now of New Orleans, arrived here this week to attend the Lawless-Ramstein wedding. Miss Ryan will remain here for several weeks, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. William Patterson, and the Misses Raidy, West Main street.

mann performing the ceremony. The newly wedded pair immediately left for St. Louis and the World's Fair, where they are now spending their honeymoon.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Ramstein and George Lawless was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Charles Borromeo church, the Rev. Father Raffo officiating. After the ceremony the wedding party assembled at the home of the bride's parents, where a five-course wedding supper was served and a reception held from 5 to 11 o'clock. The happy couple were the recipients of a large number of handsome and costly presents. They have gone to house-keeping at 2533 Rowan street, where they are at home to their friends.

Father Cunningham will be the officiating clergyman, and Holy Cross church will be thronged with friends of the happy young people.

URSULINE SISTERS'

Commencement at Academy of Immaculate Conception a Great Success.

On the occasion of the annual commencement of the Academy of the Immaculate Conception St. Martin's school hall was crowded. The various parts were finely rendered. There was music, speech-making and drama and all highly creditable to the Sisters and pupils. An interesting feature of the exercises was an address by Rev. William Gausepohl at the close of the exercises. He congratulated the parents and the Ursuline ladies for their noble work in the great field of education. He told the young maidens to take with them their music and cultivate it, "for if you don't C sharp," said Father William, "you will B flat. Take with you cheerfulness for the stage of life, the bright eye, the unclouded brow. The sunny smile will impart happiness and send the blood dancing through the veins for joy." In conclusion, Father William admonished the girls to keep a green spot in their hearts for the academy. His remarks received generous applause.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S

Closing Exercises of the Sisters of Providence School Largely Attended.

The closing exercises of the Sisters of Providence School, connected with St. Augustine's church, in Jeffersonville, brought a large audience to Speith's Hall on Tuesday evening, mostly ladies. The exhibition was in every way creditable to pupils and teachers. There was music, recitations and declamations. All of the little girls and boys took part in the choruses, and the elder pupils rendered difficult selections on the piano and violin. The vocal music was of a high order. The Sisters have shown great devotion to the little ones under their care this year, and the parents are all well pleased. The pupils of the senior classes rank well up with the best scholars in the schools throughout the State. The Sisters are to be congratulated, and so is Father O'Connell, who takes such a lively interest in the school work.

Father O'Connell is getting ready to begin the work of rebuilding St. Augustine's church, recently destroyed by fire. The walls and foundation have been removed. The tower, which was being removed slowly up to Monday evening, took a tumble, and a large part of it fell to the ground about 6 o'clock on that day. Fortunately no one was around when the tower collapsed and no one was injured. The old brick taken from the building are being cleaned and will be used on the inside of the new structure, while pressed brick will be used for the outside facing. It is expected to have the edifice finished this fall, and the prediction is that the new church will be one of the handsomest in Southern Indiana.

COMES FOR BRIDE.

M. J. O'Laughlin, a prominent and successful young resident of Beaumont, Texas, arrived here this week to claim one of Louisville's fairest girls for his bride. His marriage to Miss Maude Breslin, of 615 West St. Catherine street, will be solemnized Wednesday morning at St. Louis Bertrand's with nuptial mass. Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple will leave to visit relatives in Ohio, and from there will proceed to the World's Fair, and then return to Beaumont, where they will make their future home.

FINE RECORD

Made by Tom Scally During the Time He Has Been Labor Inspector.

Thomas J. Scally is making a fine record in the position of State Labor Inspector, to which place he was recently appointed by Gov. Beckham. Although he has been in office only a few months, he has inspected over 150 factories and is still at work. Mr. Scally is devoting his attention particularly to the enforcement of that section of the law which prohibits the employment of children of tender years in factories. It is to be regretted that there are some parents who try to assist the factory owners in evading this wholesome law by giving false information about the ages of their children in order that they may earn a pittance in the factories. There are employers, too, who are willing to hire mere children in violation of the law. The attention of the grand jury has been called to this by Inspector Scally, and it would not be surprising if several indictments were returned against the violators. The Inspector can be relied upon to do his duty in the premises. Although Tom is full of fun and of music, he does not fail as a public official.

WATER COMPANY

Must Pay City Taxes Like All Other Public Institutions.

The highest court in the State has decided that the Louisville Water Company must pay city taxes because it is not directly managed by the city and is a separate corporation, though all of the stock is owned by the city. The Water Company has been furnishing water to all of the city institutions free of charge, and its officers claim that the water bills will more than offset the amount of taxes which the city can hope to collect from it. The decision of the court in this matter may lead to changes in the management of the Water Company, which has been freely criticised for years, whether justly or unjustly. The tax bills against the Water Company were placed on the books by City Assessor Murphy, and it was held at the time that he was without authority to place the bills against the company, but he did his duty fearlessly. City Attorney Stone vigorously prosecuted the case in the Court of Appeals and won the suit for the city. It is said the effect of the decision will be far reaching.

RECENT DEATHS.

John and Mary Callahan, 1206 Dumesnil street, have the sympathy of many friends in the loss of their infant son Patrick, whose funeral took place Thursday morning. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

The funeral of Lawrence Allgeier, whose death resulted from injuries received in a runaway, took place Friday morning from St. Frances of Rome church. The deceased lived with his parents on the Newburg road, a short distance from the city limits, and was a young man held in high esteem by all who knew him. Rev. Father White officiated at the impressive funeral ceremony.

Edward Broderick, twenty-nine years old, a popular and valued employee of the Ahrens & Ott Company, died unexpectedly Wednesday morning, and the news came as a shock to his many friends throughout the city. Though he had pulmonary trouble, no alarm was felt, and the firm intended sending him soon to Colorado in their interest. Besides his wife he leaves two small children to mourn his loss. His funeral took place Friday morning from St. Cecilia's church, where he had worshipped until he was removed to 1724 Floyd street, where he died.

The funeral of Patrick Winn, the venerable father of Col. Matt Winn, took place Sunday afternoon from the Cathedral, Father Schumann officiating at the solemn services. Deceased was one of the old school of Irish gentlemen, loyal to his church and country, charitable and temperate. His remains were found floating in the river Saturday, and the mystery surrounding his death remains unsolved. Mr. Winn had considerable money on his person when last seen alive, and everything points to foul play. The news of his death caused widespread sorrow throughout this city, where he has lived for many years.

The funeral of Col. John Treanor, one of Louisville's oldest and most respected citizens, occurred Monday morning from St. Frances of Rome church, Rev. Father White celebrating the solemn mass of requiem. Col. Treanor was a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, and was noted for bravery and loyalty, being commended by President Lincoln and most of the great Generals. For nearly sixty years he had been actively identified with the interests of Louisville, and here he raised a large and respectable family. Father White preached a feeling funeral sermon and spoke of the upright and honorable life of the deceased. The

IRISH SPORTS

Ancient Olympian Games at St.
Louis During A. O. H.
Convention.

Week of July 17 Set Apart For Events Not Heretofore Seen in This Country.

Interesting Programme Is Prepared by St. Louis Irish Societies.

WILL ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

Irish athletics and Irish games will hold sway in St. Louis from July 17 to July 24 inclusive. During the same week the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held. The week's programme will be in charge of John J. O'Connor, President of the Western association of the A. A. U., and a prominent man in Irish circles. The athletic sports will be inaugurated July 17, with an open handicap meet, under the auspices of the St. Louis Hibernians. The events to be contested will be open to the world and will be as follows: Hundred-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, one-mile run, running high jump, running broad jump, putting sixteen-pound shot, throwing fifty-six-pound weight and two scratch events, a sack race and a three-legged race. There will also be a tug of war contest and a 100-yard dash for boys. These games will be contested on the old St. Louis Fair Grounds, and beautiful prizes will be awarded the winning athletes.

Among the events carded for July 17 is the running hop, step and jump. In former years this event was quite popular in all athletic circles, but for some unknown reason was dropped. With the revival of the event by the Irish societies they expect to once more place the event on the championship programme.

Beginning July 20, the physical culture department of the World's Fair will inaugurate its programme of Irish sport, and the games will continue without intermission until July 23. No professional athletes will be allowed to participate in the sports and all athletes must be registered with the A. A. U. On the first day, July 20, the events will be 100-yard dash, putting forty-two-pound shot, running two hope and a jump, 440-yard hurdle race, Irish jig competition and running high jump.

The programme for the second day, July 21, will consist of a 220-yard dash, three standing jumps, throwing the fourteen-pound weight, half-mile run, Irish horn-pipe, throwing fifty-six pound weight for distance.

The third day, July 22, will witness the one-mile run, running high jump, putting sixteen pound shot, throwing fifty-six-pound weight, unlimited run and follow, rising and striking the hurling ball.

Saturday afternoon, July 23, will mark the close of the carnival at the Stadium, and the games will be 120-yard high hurdles, running long jump, throwing sixteen-pound hammer, unlimited run and follow, throwing the javelin and throwing the fifty-six-pound weight for height.

After the Stadium sports close the Irish Nationalists will bring the big tournament to a close with a monster athletic meet on the old Fair Grounds. This organization will present the same events that the Hibernians have drawn up, and as a special inducement for new world's record will present to the athlete who breaks a record in any event a costly diamond medal. As can be seen from the events that have been selected for the carnival, the meet consists of distinctly Irish sports, especially so in the weights. Throwing the forty-two-pound stone is practically unheard-of in America and was first presented at the games of the Greater New York Irish A. C. last summer, together with throwing the javelin and the fifty-six-pound weight, with unlimited follow. Rising and striking the hurling ball is a new event to Americans.

All the Stadium games beautiful gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded the men who finish first, second and third in each event. At the games of the Hibernians and Nationalists gold medals will be awarded the winners in each event and second men will be presented with trophies in accordance with the value of the first prize. The entries for the games at the Stadium close July 2 with James E. Sullivan, department of physical culture, St. Louis Exposition. The events for the Hibernian meet, July 17, close July 9 with J. J. O'Connor, 2718 Thomas street, and those for the Nationalists with Mr. O'Connor July 18.

The week devoted to Irish sports is second only to that of the Olympian games from an athletic standpoint. Some of the best athletes in America will compete at these games, including Flanagan, Jim Mitchell, Harry Hillman and teams from the big Irish athletic clubs in New York City. Athletes will compete in the games representing San Francisco, Chicago, New York, Boston, St. Louis, New Orleans and various other cities throughout the United States. There is also a possibility of Albert Plaw, the giant hammer thrower of the Pacific coast, again meeting his rival, John Flanagan. The latter is very anxious to meet Plaw in order to try and wipe out the defeat he sustained at the Stadium several weeks ago.

JUBILEE.

The Rev. Father Oble, the popular pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's church, Shelby street, will celebrate his silver jubilee tomorrow week. His parishioners are making extensive preparations to fittingly observe the important event.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Now for the field day.
Division 1 meets Tuesday night. There will be some interesting reports.
Hats off to the two star bowlers at the picnic Monday evening—Jim Ross and Con Ford.

There were sixty-eight names on the charter list of the division recently instituted at Savannah.

Capt. Jerry Hallahan, who has been engaged in railroad construction, came to attend the picnic. The old Knights were all glad to see him.

Milwaukee Hibernians will enjoy an outing to Waukesha next Saturday. Their annual picnic will be held at Schlitz Park Saturday, August 13.

Arrangements have been completed by the county officers for the organization of another division in Trenton, N. J., making eight in that city.

San Francisco divisions will this year have a great Fourth of July celebration, for which arrangements have been completed for several weeks.

The Picnic Committee deserve a rising vote of thanks from the four divisions for the successful manner in which they performed their duties from start to finish.

Last Monday night at Utica a large number of candidates received the first and second degrees and were accepted into the order, becoming members of Division 2.

The picnic Monday night impressed one as being a big family gathering, every one knowing each other and the best of fellowship prevailing all through the evening.

The meeting of Division 2, postponed from Monday night, will be held next Wednesday night, when there will be an initiation. All Hibernians will be welcome at this meeting.

At an interesting meeting of the County Board at Utica, President Keenan presiding, every division in the county being represented, the members pledged themselves to bring about the re-election of State Secretary Farley. The board decided to hold a union picnic on the lines of last year.

Last Sunday week was a great day for the Irish of Kellogg, Minn. A Ladies' Auxiliary was organized and officers elected and the degrees were conferred on the members of the new Hibernian division. State officers and others were present and in the evening dinner was served to all the members and visitors.

The Ohio State convention will meet at Youngstown, August 9, continuing three days. The Cincinnati Telegraph says this will be the greatest outpouring of Hibernians ever witnessed in Ohio, and the Mahoning Valley divisions will do themselves proud in the effort to make the stay of the visitors a memorable one.

BATH BRIEFS.

Never bathe when overheated.
Never bathe when exhausted and feeling ill.
Do not prolong the bath beyond a reasonable time.
Wait more than two hours after a meal before bathing.

In cold weather one should not go out for some time after hot bath.

Delicate people had better not bathe until several hours after breakfast.

The temperature of water for a cold bath should range from 52 to 65 degrees.

If you are chilly and a cold bath makes you shiver it is not the best sort for you to take.

Dry the body quickly, using a dry bath brush or a Turkish towel to stimulate circulation.

Opinions differ as to the relative merits of a cold or a hot bath. Neither kind will do for all. The individual constitution must be consulted.

"I hope, Johnny," said the visitor, "that I haven't disturbed your pa and ma at dinner." "No," replied Johnny, "we was just goin' to sit down, but pa seen you from the window, an' told ma not to have dinner till you went."

CONFIRMATION

Bishop D. O'Donoghue Visits
Holy Trinity and Compliments Its Pastor.

Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue, of Indianapolis, confirmed a class of seventy-five children and adults in Holy Trinity church, New Albany, on Sunday morning, in the presence of a large congregation. The Bishop was assisted by the Rev. John B. Kelly and Rev. Father Kenney, assistant rector of the church. Preceding the ceremony of confirmation the Right Rev. Bishop explained in his usual concise way the importance of the ceremony and the obligations resting upon those who received the sacrament. Bishop O'Donoghue is a great favorite at Holy Trinity, and every one in the congregation turns out when he comes to town. He is one of the most lovable clergymen in the whole country. Holy Trinity congregation is in a flourishing condition, and Father Kelly was complimented by the Bishop for his good work. The Bishop and Father Kelly were school-mates while studying for the priesthood.

IN SCOTLAND

Irish is the Language of the Highland People as a Rule.

There are a great many people who are not aware that Irish (Gaelic) is the language of the Highlands of Scotland. The Highlands were, of course, peopled from Ireland and they paid tribute to the Irish kings until St. Columba pleaded for their freedom and had it granted. The Gaelic revival movement is spreading in Scotland also. The Scotch in Canada have Gaelic newspapers and have had such for a long time. The Highlanders and the Irish differ in that the former use English characters, whereas the latter stick to the original characters in their literature, writes Seumas MacManus in the New York Sun.

Scotch representatives dressed in national costume come to our great annual Gaelic festival, the Oireachtas, and on the other hand delegates from our Gaelic League attend the Highland Mod. Our Celtic cousins, the Welsh and Bretons, send representatives also to our Oireachtas. Although Donald is zealous and enthusiastic about his Gaelic tongue, which he believes none but good Highlandmen speak, he was right heartily displeased with the minister that preached to him in Gaelic and in praise of the Gaelic language, and who said that Gaelic was the language of Adam and Eve in the Garden.

People thought this should have flattered Donald's national pride, but it was far from doing so. "What gar's me be sae vexed wi' the meenister," said the angry Donald, "is that if Adam and Eve spoke Gaelic in t' Garden the de'il mann then has been a Highland man."

MILITARY BAND CONCERT.

The Kentucky Military Band will give another of its delightful open air concerts Wednesday night at Phoenix Hill Park. This band is under the direction of Prof. Rittel, and if given proper encouragement might soon equal any that come to the city. The programme embraces all the latest music, and the concert will be well worth hearing.

RAILWAY CLERKS' DANCE.

Louisville Lodge, No. 23, of the Order of Railway Clerks will give a select dance at Fountain Ferry Park next Thursday evening. The First Regiment Band will furnish the music for the occasion. The short time the Louisville lodge has been in existence has proven that it is composed of energetic workers who deserve encouragement from the local unions and their sympathizers.

ENDS THE TALK.

In a company some gentlemen were talking about imitating the sounds of animals.

"That is all rubbish," said an Irishman. "I've a friend, and when he imitates a rooster's crow"—

"Well?"

"The sun rises."

LEMONS.

Two or three slices of lemon in a cup of strong tea will cure a nervous headache. Lemou juice (outward application) will allay the irritation caused by the bites of insects.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a small cup of black coffee will relieve bilious headache.

A dash of lemon in plain water is an excellent tooth wash. It not only removes tartar, but sweetens the breath.

Lemon juice is better than any drug or complexion powder for giving permanent clearness and beauty to the skin.

The juice of a lemon taken in hot water on awakening in the morning is an excellent liver corrector and for stout women is better than any anti-fat medicine ever invented.

HIGHEST FUNCTIONS OF WOMEN.

Home making and child training are the two highest functions of a woman. The best training is usually done in a servile home, for self-reliance is one of the greatest factors in a child's education. The woman who does her own work finds out the essential things in home making, and is not led astray by that temptation to meaningless luxuries and decorations which vulgarize so many American homes today. The fact is that servants are always a complication in home life, and the more servants there are the more complicated it becomes. Some of us demand this complication, some of us can do without it. But it is ridiculous to assume that it has anything to do with the real essential ideas of home making. With or without servants the ideal home is always possible to the capable home maker, and practically, in

JUST A HINT OF OUR

Wash Suit Selling.

This season's demand for Wash Suits seems to surpass all previous years, at least this is the conclusion that WE have come to, because we are selling an enormous quantity; in fact, our sales have been so progressive that our buyer has made a hurried trip to the Eastern markets. While we remain in wait for these shipments we will sell our present stock at exceptionally low prices to give us ample room to display the large quantity that was purchased. To detail these sacrifices it will be necessary for our customers to know that these suits have recently been received and they comprise all that is new and up to date.

SPLENDID

Gathering of Hibernians Witnesses Initiation of New Members.

Division 2 Making the Greatest Strides in Its Entire History.

Social Session and Good Time For Degree Team and Visitors.

FOURTEEN MORE NAMES ON ROLL

The most enthusiastic meeting in the history of Division 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, was held on Friday night of last week, when fourteen new names were added to the membership roll. The Kentucky Irish American of the preceding week gave the hint that something would be doing, and that was all that was necessary to fill every chair in Hiber-nian Hall. When the hour set for the meeting arrived President Con Ford, John J. Sullivan, John Keane and Edward Keiran were in their respective chairs.
They gave a hearty greeting to the visiting State and county officers and members from the three other divisions who came to witness the initiation ceremonies.
The Visiting Committee stated that they had no report to make, none of the members being sick. The other routine business was quickly dispatched, and while the candidates were being prepared short talks were made by County President Sullivan, who said that after the outing of Monday night the County Board would proceed to arrange for a field day that would be worthy the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Irish race.

State President Keenan referred to the progress the divisions were making throughout the State, which was gratifying to all the members. He congratulated the officers and members of Division 2 upon the rapid strides they were making and hoped their present steady growth would long continue.

James Coleman, former State Secretary, was present and complimented Messrs.
Ford, McKenna, Keiran and others for their excellent work, expressing his pleasure at seeing so many young men joining the order. State Secretary McGinn, the last speaker, announced that he was now ready to furnish supplies to all the divisions, but he found special pleasure in being with the members of Division 2, who knew well how to succeed and at the same time give visitors a good time.

The degree team was selected from the four divisions, Patricia Pat Sullivan, Bard Tom Dolan, Grand Guide Joe Mc-
Ginn, Scribe John Keane and Sentinel
Pat Begley putting up the principal work.

There was a murmur of surprise when the guard of honor appeared with fourteen candidates, the largest number received into one division in this city for some time. The candidates were Messrs.
Patrick Broderick, John Dealey, Will
Lucy, Anthony Filburn, Jr., Thomas
Lynch, Daniel Horan, Michael McNally,
Martin Connors, Joseph Lee, J. B. Blau-
ford, John Horan, Maurice Carroll, Mike Lyons and Charles Leithan, all young men. The degree work was impressive, and the singing of the picked choir, accompanied on the piano by Denny
Coleman, received much praise.

President Ford, in receiving the new members, delivered an eloquent and feeling charge, pointing out the many benefits conferred by membership in the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He urged them to be loyal to one another and not forget the obligation they had just taken.
He then invited all to remain the guests of the division for an hour or two, during which there was plenty to eat, drink and smoke, also a number of songs and stories. When the adjournment was had it was the wish of all present that Division 2 might soon again have another big initiation and social session. The new mem-

HAD MUCH FUN.

The children of Holy Cross parish had much fun and a pleasant afternoon Thursday at the annual picnic given them by the Rev. B. A. Cunningham.
In the school yard were two large tents where were numerous games and innocent amusements, and besides there was an abundance of refreshments, all being furnished to the little folks free of cost.
Father Cunningham was ably assisted by Col. John H. Whallen, who received the vote of every child present for Mayor of the parish.

COSTLY CATHOLIC CHURCH.

A handsome and costly new stone
Catholic church will soon be built at St.
Mary's in Clark county, Ind. The present structure is old and wholly inadequate to the needs of the Catholics of that community, which is steadily increasing in numbers.

FATHER DONOVAN

Kentucky Priest Named For Head of Josephine Order.

An Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore states that eighteen members of the Josephine Order met there Wednesday to act upon the resignation of the Very Rev. J. E. Slattery, who resigned as Superior of the order in the United States. Father Slattery is now in Europe. The Rev. Thomas B. Donovan, of Kentucky, received the unanimous vote of those present to succeed Father Slattery, but the election must be confirmed at the Vatican in Rome.

Father Donovan is well known in Louisville among the priests and teachers in the Catholic church. He was born in Kentucky, but has never done any work here, having joined the Josephine Order as soon as he decided to enter the priesthood. He was educated in the schools of the Josephine Order in Baltimore, and was graduated from the Epiphany College in that city. He at once began missionary work among the negroes in Virginia and other Southern States. The Josephine Order is devoted to the evangelization of the negro. Father Donovan was in Europe for some months during last year, and after returning was placed at the head of the Epiphany College in Baltimore. He has now been selected to the highest position in the order.

"He is a man of fine attainments, scholarly, gentle, and yet a man of great strength," said Rev. Father Charles P.
Raffo, when told of the selection of Father Donovan. "He is about forty-five years of age, and has done a great work in the order, to which he has devoted almost his entire life."

TO ENTERTAIN LADIES.

Division 4, A. O. H., Will Have Ladies' Auxiliary as Their Guests.

Division 4 of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at its regular meeting Wednesday evening requested the Kentucky Irish American through its columns to invite the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to be their guests at the next regular meeting of the division, and President John Hennessey appointed John J. Barry, Joseph P. McGinn, William J. Connelly and Dave Reilly to arrange for a musical and literary programme for the evening. Division 4 takes this step to show their appreciation of the efforts the ladies have made in the past in assisting the Hibernians to make their affairs successful.

The visiting committee reported Harry Brady on the sick list and James Langan, who was hurt in the Illinois Central railroad collision early Wednesday morning, in an extremely dangerous condition.
Much sympathy was expressed for Mr.
Langan, as he is one of the division's most faithful and energetic workers. It is feared that one of his legs may have to be amputated and in addition the doctors from their latest reports think that he may be injured internally.

It was decided by the division that in case the County Board decided not to have a field day or picnic in the fall that Division 4 would give something in that line, and President Hennessey was instructed to ascertain the County Board's wishes in the matter.

FINE AUTO.

One of the finest autos in the city is that owned by Col. John Gray, the well-known contracting bricklayer. It is a Rambler gasoline machine, with top and glass sides, and whenever Mr. and Mrs.
Gray leave their home on West Chestnut street they take with them some friends for a most delightful ride.

BUYS LAND.

William E. Burke, of this city, has purchased twenty-four acres and William Kelly, of Jeffersonville, 105 acres of land in Clark county, near Jeffersonville.
Their friends wonder whether the purchases were made for speculative or farming purposes. They evidently believe there is money in land in Clark county, and they are about right.

Cann is a man after whom our youth might wisely pattern. Not only his Irish-American friends and old-time associates, but the general public, feels proud of him who started in the foundry, but today does honor to his race and city as Judge of the Police Court. In his dealings he is impartial and just, and therefore can hold his honored office as long as he desires.

ROBINSON CRUSOE.

Paris Correspondent Says the Original Was an Irishman.

Was Robinson Crusoe an Irishman? A Paris correspondent of a Pittsburgh paper says there is a place not far from the French capital where respect is paid to the memory of Robinson Crusoe. When Daniel Defoe wrote the delightful book which has fascinated generations of the world's population it is extremely doubtful that he ever intended to make a Frenchman of his legendary hero. It will probably come as news to his admirers to learn that Robinson Crusoe, after his rescue from the desert isle, returned to a village called Scaux, about seven miles from Paris, and became an innkeeper.

Local tradition has it that Robinson Crusoe brought with him and planted, or rather replanted, in his garden, the original tree in which he slept on the night of his shipwreck on the island. Indeed the inhabitants still point out with pride the tree and the house in which Crusoe lived. There is, however, some confusion as to the exact spot, owing to three innkeepers in the village claiming to possess the original trees. There are also spurious trees called "Robinson Crusoe trees," which have been set up by other innkeepers in the place with a view of attracting customers. Indeed Scaux-Robinson, as the village has come to be called, is full of innkeepers, for it has become a favorite resort for Paris students and for Parisians generally who live on the south side of the Seine river.

It appears that toward the end of the eighteenth century, probably about the period of the French Revolution, an Englishman, whose name was Robinson, settled at Scaux, and in some extraordinary manner the report got about that Robinson had traveled much and had met with many remarkable adventures. It was rumored that Robinson had even taken part in the war of independence on the side of the colonists, and that he would be hanged if he went back to England. This was enough to make him an object of sympathy to the people in the neighborhood, and so many folks came to listen to his stories of adventure that Robinson soon engaged in business as an innkeeper. He married and had numerous progeny. Judging from the appearance of some of his descendants and the flow of ready wit which they possess, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the original Robinson must have been an Irishman, with the gift of oratory peculiar to his race.

YOUNG WIVES SHOULD KNOW.

Necessities should be selected before decorative articles of furniture. It is always decidedly cheaper in the end to buy only good carpets and furniture.

No matter how good the income, a small sum should be put aside regularly for the proverbial rainy day.

A simple dinner well served is decidedly more enjoyable than an elaborate dinner poorly served.

A practical knowledge of "economy of good cooking" will be absolutely necessary for the young housewife, no matter how much "help" she can afford to keep.

All bills for marketing should be paid weekly, or better still, when the articles are bought.

With care and economy a small amount of money will do wonders.

It is important to be systematic in looking after the leftovers.

All cold vegetables and scraps of meat may be used in soups and salads and croquettes and many appetizing ways too numerous to mention.

ONE'S CLOTHES AND ONE'S WORK.

Wherever a marked personal care is exhibited for the cleanliness of the person and for neatness in dress there is also almost always found extra carefulness as regards the finish of work done. Work people whose personal habits are slovenly produce slovenly work. Those who are careful of their own appearance are equally careful of the look of the work they turn out. And probably what is true of the work-room is equally true of the region behind the counter. Is it not the fact that the smart saleswoman is usually particular about her dress, is averse to wearing dingy collars, frayed cuffs and faded ties? The truth of the matter seems to be that extra care as regards personal habits and general appearance is, as a rule, indicative of a certain alertness of mind which shows itself antagonistic to slovenliness of all kinds.

IRISH: ROAST EACH OTHER.

The Archbishop of Glasgow in his address at the Counsaught reunion in the City Hall, in warning Irishmen against the danger of disunion, told a story of Dr. Johnston which evoked much laughter. Boswell once asked the doctor: "How is it you always speak ill of Scotland and never of Ireland?" Johnston replied: "The answer is this: You Scotchmen are joined in a conspiracy to make little of every one else and to make much of yourselves. The Irish, on the other hand, are an impartial people—I never heard an Irishman say a good thing of another."

The deep abiding faith of some of the old Irish fathers and mothers is pathetic and the sacrifices they are willing to make ought to put some of the later-day productions to blush. An old man named Peely died recently in California. He had reached his ninety-first year, and last Christmas, being unable to obtain transportation, walked twenty-five miles to go to communion. Is there a vigorous young man in this city who would do that?
